

This Sunday!

Parent Academy: Wake County Public School system is presenting a helpful new workshop at our center. Please come and support Wake County and our efforts to encourage reading.

(For parents and children)

Lebanese people have always valued education, please support WCPSS effort to reach communities! Last month no one came.

Let's show some support right back!

Sunday Oct 4th 6:00 241 Horizon Dr. Raleigh NC 27612

Description: Reading Is Fundamental!:

One of the most effective approaches to helping young children develop literacy skills is having a home environment that encourages reading in daily life. Join us in this workshop and learn how you can support the development of your child's literacy at home.

Children's Arabic:

The children are enjoying Arabic classes. This is their 4th week and they are still excited!

St Jude Walk: Thank you to all of those who participated even in the rain and cold! Real troopers! (Enjoy pictures below)

Adha Get Together: We enjoyed delicious food thanks to Johnny, Rouida, Noha, Lina, Amal, Walid, Sirine, and many more. Best of all was we enjoyed visiting with friends! (Pictures below)

Our Friends at NCSU: The MK Center is brining us yet another exciting movie. Mark your calendar:

Film Screening and Q&A With Director Monday, October 19 @ 7 PM

Erdahl Cloyd Auditorium, D.H. Hill Library, NCSU

The 30th Annual International Festival!

The one and only International Festival of Raleigh is next weekend! How remarkable, the TLA has been participating in the festival for 30 years! Thank you to all of those who volunteered over the years!

Speaking of volunteering: Volunteer! If you don't represent your country... someone else will!

Help for three stay for free (Spend 3 hours volunteering, then enjoy the rest of the festival!)

We can use your help before, during and after the festival. We need volunteers, please sign up and help us out at the booth http://www.signupgenius.com/go/30e0c4bafaa28a46-
